

February 9, 1979

to set down what the Democratic Party in Nebraska thinks, how they want to elect the delegates and so that it will advise Paul Douglas and Allen Beermann when they write the ballot or fix out the ballot a way in which the delegates can be selected, not only according to what the National Conference, but the interpretation of the Democrat Party in the State of Nebraska. So I advise you to pass this bill, and when I introduce the bill Monday, it should be passed at the same time. Thank you.

PRESIDENT: The Chair recognizes Senator Schmit.

SENATOR SCHMIT: Would Senator Newell yield to a question, please?

PRESIDENT: Senator Newell, would you respond?

SENATOR NEWELL: Certainly, for Senator Schmit, anything.

SENATOR SCHMIT: Is there any chance, Senator Newell, that if we don't pass the bill, the Democrats can't nominate a man for President next time?

SENATOR NEWELL: No, Senator Schmit, Nebraskans may not have an opportunity to help in the nomination but there will be a Democratic nominee.

SENATOR SCHMIT: I'd suggest they need all the help of the Nebraska Democrats they can get so I will vote to introduce the bill.

SENATOR NEWELL: Thank you.

PRESIDENT: The Chair recognizes Senator Warner.

SENATOR WARNER: Mr. President, I have a question for Senator Newell, too.

PRESIDENT: Senator Newell, will you respond?

SENATOR NEWELL: Yes, Senator Warner.

SENATOR WARNER: Do I understand, are the provisions such that this can only be done if the federal, national convention, rather, requires it to be done? It would not permit a party structure to change the method on their own...despite the fact whether or not the national convention was requiring it. What I am getting at, I wouldn't want to see the Republicans to lose the opportunity of voters directly